Daily Thought.

The bell never rings of itself; unless someone handles or moves it, it is dumb.—Plautus.

The Baldwin clan in Fayette county, W. Va., appear to be in a mood to furnish material for a book entitled "The Last of the Hatfields."

Capt. Archie Butt makes a pleasing background for a presidential picture, and with Taft in the foreground the necessity of "filling in" is obviated.

Arlington proposes to build a $40,000 court house, if Carlisle county will make that enterprising town the county seat. Arlington citizens think that if Bardwell people weren't set in their convictions they could make the county realize the advantage of the offer.

INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

This year started out with capital trembling in anticipation of a big railroad strike, and more than once the situation seemed to be on the eve of an industrial siege that would lay embargo on all interstate commerce. Today it is announced that the New York Central and most of the big eastern lines have compromised with their conductors in a manner satisfactory to both parties. Thus gradually the differences between men and their employers are being adjusted by arbitration, the men remaining at their posts until the trouble is satisfactorily settled or the issue well defined. It speaks well for the future, and proves the value of federal arbitration scheme. There are two sides in the wage question. The men view their own personal needs; the employers must consider the bulk of the entire rail, and while it may mean a score or a hundred dollars a year to each individual, to the railroad companies it means millions. There are other issues besides that of wages; but when both sides ask only justice and fair play the solution is never far to seek.

SMALL TOWNS AND THE LEAGUE
Small towns of Kentucky should awaken to the advantage of the league of municipalities. They will benefit by the experience of the larger cities as they grow, avoid the early mistakes of the latter and improve upon their discoveries. The purpose of the league is to maintain in the first place, a bureau, where all sorts of information for the benefit of municipalities may be obtained, the result of experiments in cities all over the world kept for reference; and secondly, to have the nucleus of a non-partisan political organization, that can unite the combined influence of all municipalities behind measures for their common benefit. Through this bureau the needs of the cities can be studied, the best results of experiments elsewhere applied to local conditions, and intelligent direction given to the consideration of relief measures. Incidentally, of course, the legislators can be informed of the purposes of proposed measures, and the measures themselves can be carefully and properly drawn so as to meet all requirements in the most economic fashion. The smaller communities are equally interested with the larger in many reforms; then they have their own problems, many of which have been solved elsewhere, and these can be

They should take an active interest, and the local papers should call the attention of the town authorities to the league and its purposes. We hope to see the Purchase towns all represented in the league; because whatever helps them to better government and prosperity help us all.

Some Stories Around the Town.

Dolphy Traverso, the eight-year-old son of H. L. Traverso, the Lax Pos salesman, of 1712 Broad street, is a Paducah visitor, having been brought in from Calloway county by his father this morning. The lad, who is tall for his age, weighs 110 pounds, but he is as active as most eight year old boys, and apparently feels no discomfort from his weight.

STATE PRESS.

SMITHLAND CONTRIBUTES MUCH TO PADUCAH'S GROWTH

Again and again, and how often we have to chronicle the old, old story of our good, splendid business young people, going to Paducah and joining hands with the splendid population of that little village in their efforts to hold their own in staying to the front in their rush in the progress of events, and in maintaining the record of the city as the metropolis of western Kentucky. Not satisfied with taking from us our loved and appreciated Fowlers, Sanders, Leeches, Pattersons, Greers, Rudys, Phillips, Rogers, Duleys, Hendricks, Grasshams, Purcells, Roberts, Grays, Promells, Webbs and hundreds of others, now Paducah comes again and draws on us for two more of our splendid young business men and this time takes from us Haynes and David Dunn, two sons of Hon. D. A. Dunn, ex-sheriff of Livingston county and for ten years president of Smithland banks. He was the founder and organizer of the banking business in Livingston county. Ten years ago we had one, now we have six. Good old Paducah, please tell us now who will you have next?—Smithland Banner.

A Game of Fourflushing.

Speaker Wilson, of the last general assembly, has called a meeting of the committee appointed to redistrict the state. The significance of this incident is found in its utter uselessness when considered from the viewpoint of the commonwealth. But as a political stroke it is not without merits. Gov. Willson appointed a non-partisan redistricting commission, which was made up of the Hon. C. U. McElroy, of this city, and a number of other distinguished Democrats, and a proportionate number of high-standing Republicans. This commission studied the situation carefully and ably and reported to the general assembly. That august body of Democratic representatives found no fault with the report, but at the instance of the powers that be, ignored it and appointed the committee which is now called to meet. The politics of the thing lies in the fact that had the commission's admittedly competent report been accepted, the state would be redistricted before the next general elections. By appointing this committee, three objects were attained, which were desirable from the Democratic point of view. First, the present districting, glaringly in favor of the Democrats, will stand during the next elections; second, when the state is redistricted, if the Democrats win in 1911, it will be again redistricted by Democrats for Democrats; and third, the credit of redistricting the state will be shifted from a Republican to a Democratic administration. So you see, dear reader, why Speaker Wilson and his committee are meeting while the commission is forgotten.—Third District Review.

No Improvement.

We have noted considerable improvement of late in the editorial department of the Paducah News, interested with the larger in many reforms; then they have their own problems, many of which have been solved elsewhere, and these can be

We fear, however, that the N-D does not improve the Nashville and Louisville editorials by rewriting them. stand pat. It's easier on the office.—Murray Ledger.

BAD DREAMS.

Nightmare, Restlessness and Night-sweats All Caused by Indigestion.

Half of the nervousness in the world, all of the disturbing dreams and nightmares can be ended in a few weeks by a simple, inexpensive treatment.

Upset stomach is the cause of nervousness and bad dreams. Your food is lying in your stomach undigested and fermenting; it is forming poisonous gases which irritate the pneumogastric nerve that leads direct from the brain, and ends in a network of tiny branches running through the stomach.

It is also the irritation of this great pneumogastric nerve that causes headaches. Many times people have severe headaches and know that they are caused by the stomach, but do not know in what manner.

If you are nervous, have dreams or nightmare, and do not sleep sound at night, get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and take one or two after or with meals. They relieve distressed stomach in 5 minutes. Sold by druggists everywhere and by Gilbert's drug store, who guarantees them to cure indigestion or money back.

The Kentucky arrived from River-ton, Ala., before midnight and left at 5:30 this morning for Metropolis and Brookport to unload lumber and miscellaneous freight. She will return early tonight and leave at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening for a return trip to the Tennessee.

The U. S. S. Colbert returned to the Tennessee this morning at 7 o'clock for a tow of rock for Livingston's point.

Today was quiet on the wharves as only the regular daily packets were in and out. The river began falling last night and will probably go to a low stage.

Ed Wilber, colored, a waiter on the Lee liner is the victim at Riverside hospital suffering with a section of his upper lip bitten off by Shorty. The two fought about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon while the steamer was enroute to Paducah from Memphis. Wilber was taken to the hospital but the boat got away before Shorty could be arrested. Sheriff Foster at Smithland was notified to meet the boat there and the negro was taken into custody. He was kept in jail there last night.

NIGHT RIDING

CHARGED AGAINST MEN IN LIVINGSTON.

Barn Burning Case Develops Sensational Features—Beds Are Scrapped.

Smithland, Ky., May 6.—The last grand jury returned indictments against four of our citizens charging them with conspiracy and banding together. Two more have since been arrested. The indictments are similar to night rider indictments in other parts of the state. Those arrested are Woodmon Crawford, Roy Crawford, George Crawford, John John Allington. Tillington has made confession, so it is said to force Clark and claims to have been forced to join the band and sign all sorts of cut throat obligations should not secrecy be observed.

The band was located near the Thompson Chapel church and several mysterious fires have taken place in that section. Recently the barn of B. B. Wright was burned and the Deputy Fire Marshall was called here to investigate.

The confession of Allington lays bare a complete little band with signs and signals. They called themselves night riders. It is suspected by some that a man from Marshall county came over and perfected the little band that was to regulate things about Smithland.

The examining trial of George Crawford and Roy Crawford took place at the court house. They were arrested on warrants issued based on the confession of Allington. An answering indictment occurred in the trial. Allington was mum. All efforts to get him to speak were entire failures. Finally he was sent back to jail and ordered to be kept separated from the other prisoners. After a short time he was brought out again and confessed to the organization. Their bonds are fixed at $200 and as only one has given bond, Woodmon Crawford.

Since the men have been put in jail, Fred Leeper has received a threatening note warning him not to talk too much. Leeper is an important witness against them, claiming to have been approached and asked to join the band.
